THE LATE JOHN PHILIP SHERWOOD. A TRIBUTE FROM MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE.

to the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: The unlooked-for death of this young man has brought great sorraw to his family, and to many friends who have known and loved him. Beyond this intimate circle, a much larger one will sympathize deeply in the grief which so great a loss brings to his nts, both of who. are honorably known in the comunity, and of whom one is recognized as occupying an enviable position in the literary world.

John Philip Sherwood seems to have been a youth distinguished by unusual elevation and purity of character. with rare endowments of mind and of person, a deep vein of religious feeling showed itself in the ways of his shildhood, and ever continued to give direction to his life and thought. He entered Harvard College, but was strained by ill-health to abandon his studies for a time. Two years since a more serious indisposition caused his family great alarm and necessitated a visit to Europe, from which he returned apparently much im-proved in health. An insidious form of heart disease proved in hearts. much suffering, which he bore with great fortitude. On the 4th of the present month his mother saw him at the house of a friend, Mr. Hyde Clarke, with whom he was frequent and favorite guest. He retired to rest, in appearance as well as usual. On the next morning he was found lifeless in his bed, with almost a smile on his face, lying as if he had fallen into a sleep, soothed with

We can picture to ourselves the grief of his most affectionate mother, who had parted from him the evening be fore with smiles and kisses, and who, a few hours later, stood beside his bed and saw him beautiful in the maj-esty of death. If earthly help could avail to those called upon to contend with such a sorrow, many toyal would gather around the afflicted parents of so hearts would gather around the sillicted parents of so nable a child, with expressions of sympathy and regard. But Time, the great healer of pain, must now do his reconciling work, aided by Religion, which accepts the dispensations of Providence with faith and submission, and by the immortal hope which Christians cannot lose. That these may combine with the beautiful memory of the dear one gone to comfort the bereaved household must be a wish dear to all who have known or known of its members.

ALARM AT THE GRAND UNION HOTEL.

A SLIGHT FIRE IN A STORE ON THE GROUND FLOOR. SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 15 .- While the gueste at the Grand Union Hotel were at dinner this afternoon an alarm of fire was heard and smoke was seen issuing from the store of Madama Connolly, dress maker, situated on the ground floor of the hotel. The are department of the hotel, together with the village are department was immediately marshalled, and exciuguished the fire in less than half an hour.

The fire originated in the dressmaking department of Madame Coppolly's store, caused, it is supposed, by the overturning of a gas stove. Her loss is about $1,500, fly caused by smoke and water. The loss to the hotel is so trifling that no claim will be made for insurance. The guests were not in the slightest degree slarmed, so quickly were the flames under control. By the time the fire was over fifty guests had arrived, and every one registered. Several of the storekeepers under the local made hasty preparations to move, but returned their goods almost immediately. As the building has sold brick walls the fire was confined to the place where it broke out.

SOCIETY NOTES FROM NEWPORT.

THE ENTERTAINING SEASON AT ITS HEIGHT-LATEST

ARRIVALS. NEWPORT, Aug. 15 .- The polo games were not largely attended this afternoon. Among the spec-tators were St. John Broderick, John Jay, Lord and Ledy Mandeville, Mrs. W. K. The sides for the first three games were: Reds-S. S. Howiand, P. Lorillard, jr., and J. D. Lenier; Blues-W. E. Thorn, jr., and Stanley Mortimer. The first, second and third games were won by the Blues. L. Turnure, jr., appeared with the Reds in the succeeding games. The fifth game was won by the Reds and the sixth and eventh by the Blues. The eighth and ninth games were decided in favor of the Reds. In the last three Sames Thorn and Mortimer played against Howland, P. Lorillard, jr., and Turnure, the former side taking two ses out of three. Turnure is a new player, and being left handed was unable to compete with the experienced Players. All the games were skilfully contested, and the players were repeatedly applauded. About 5,000 one witnessed the games from Deagherd Hill. At a meeting of the Sanitary Protection Society the hew accession of members was announced including Dr. 6. Weir Mitetell, of Philadelphia; Dr. C. Cieveland, Dr. Beverly Robinson and Dr. J. J. Mason, of New-York, and others. Dr. Storer, of Boston, announced the death of Milton H. Sanford, who though not often able to altend the meetings had been a liberal and carnest haiper in the prosecution of the society's work. He spoke of Mr. Sanford as one of the many who have come Newport, making it their future home, and who have thus taken deep interest in its prosperity. Resolutions of respect to the memory of Mr. Sanford and of con-colores with the family were then adopted, and ordered to be communicated to the family and spread upon the

A LUNAR RAINBOW.

KEENE VALLEY, Adirondacks, Aug. 13 .-This evening at 9 o'clock the guests of the Widow Beede House had the never-to-be-forgotten pleasure of seeing a moon rainbow. The evening has been showery with dense black clouds hanging low. Toward 9 the clouds at the south broke away, letting through the clear rays o the moon, now nearly full. The effect of a flood of moonlight on the sides of the northern mountains, still under dark, overhanging clouds, was grand beyond description. But the culminating beauty was reached when an arc of silvery white appeared in the north, which an are of silvery white appeared in the hotte, gleaning out against an inky background. The bow was thrown completely across the valley, forming a glorious rainbow bridge between the mountains on opposite sides, it was of a uniform whitish color, showing none of the prismatic bues seen in the ordinary raisbow. AN IRISH PATRIOTIC MEETING.

CONGRESSMAN FINERTY PROUD OF THE MURDERER CHICAGO, Aug. 15 —The secret Irish National organizations of Chicago held their annual demonstra-tion at Ogden's Grove this afternoon, to raise funds to carry on agriation in Ireland. Fully 10,000 people paid the admittance fee to enter the grounds. Speeches were made by Congressman John F. Finerty, by Thomas Brennan, ex-Secretary of the National Irish Land League, by M. V. Gannen, of Iowa, and by Colonel R. O. S. Bourke, of New-Mexico. They were all radical in 8. Boarke, of New-Mexico. They were all radical in tone and demanded the total independence of Ireland. Mr. Finerty's assertion that "We want it distinctly understood that we of Chicago are proud of the man who killed informer Carey" was wildly appliaded. The same speaker declared that the people of Ireland did not want too interference of Cardinal Manning or the Pope at Rome if it tended to keep freiand in coains. Mr. Breunan declared that what Ireland needed above all elee at this crisis was education and organization. He termed Earl Spencer "the chief hangman of Ireland."

AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 15 .- At the American Library Association meeting here to-day William F. Pools, librarian of the Chicago Public Library, read a paper on " Plans for Supplements to the Index to Periodical Literature." Dr. Billings, of the Surgeou-General's Office, stated that the library at Washington surpassed, in general medical literature, those of France and England which are much older. J. Edmonds, of the and England which are much older. J. Edmonds, of the Pulladelphia Mercantile Library, read a paper on "Library Architecture." Mr. Edmonds offered two resolutions to petition Congress to take immediate action in the matter of a National Library, and in the appointment of a commission to see that it is properly constructed. H. A. Holmes read a paper on "Arrangement on Shelves of the Books of the New York State Library." C. A. Cutter, of Boston, read a paper on "Arrangement of the States in the System of Library Classification," which finished the session.

A NEW-YORK FISITOR'S EXPLOIT.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 15 .- Two burglars named Haner, who were held for trial in the Tolland County Jail, broke out this afternoon with another prisoner. They were recaptured in about an hour by "Frank" Unler, a New-York visitor, who found the three men in a field. He covered them with a revolver and compelled them to march back to the jail.

RAIN NEEDED IN VIRGINIA.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Aug. 15 .- The first rain that has visited this section for five weeks fell to-day. The drouth throughout the southwestern and Piedmont sections has caused the destruction of the corn crop in several counties, and has done irreparable damage to the topacco crop in others. It is thought that the rain has come too late to mend matters.

representing the Orange County District, said:
"Our district is about the same as the rest of the State. There is a general feeling among the Republicans to pull together against the common enemy. This is far more pleasant than the dissensions of the past few years, and much more profitable. There is a separently no reason why the XIVth Congressional District should not give a good account of itself in November. The fact of its being an 'off year' will probably make some difference in the vote."

Assemblyman George Z. Erwin, representative from the St. Lawrence District, was well satisfied with the appearance of things politically. "St. Lawrence County is good for itself-time majority," he said. "There was not so much dissension among the Republican voters in my district last fall as discontent. Consequently very many Republicans did not vote at all. The majority in the county was only about 4,000. This fall we will give one of the Republicans in this city. It has been felt in the past that there were a large number of Republicans in this city who were not represented at conventions because of their exclusion from the associations. There is no excuse now for any Republican not taking part in the primaries and advancing the interests of his party in the city of New-York. There is the same freedom of action here that we ciations. There is no excuse now for any hepocan can not taking part in the primaries and advancing the interests of his party in the city of New-York. There is the same freedom of action here that we enjoy in the country districts."

Ex-Congressman John M. Davy, representing the Rochester District, gave the same testimony as most of the other committeemen as to the feeling in his district. "We have healed all dissensions," he said, "and propose to work to redeem the State, and especially the Legislature, from the grasp of the Democrate. The course of the Democrats in the Senate and Assembly, so at variance with their professions of reform; their attempt to legislate out of office all Republicans whom they could reach in order to put Democrats in their places, and the shortcomings of the reform Governor from whom so much was expected, have convinced the Independent and Temperance voters that they must look to the Republicans for the best kind of legislation."

A DENIAL FROM GOVERNOR BUTLER.

HE SAYS MR. WEED HAS MISREPRESENTED HIS ACTION IN THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION OF

Boston, Aug. 15 .- In the autobiography f the late Thurlow Weed there is a passage in which Mr. Weed, referring to a conversation with the late James Gordon Reunett early during the war, says: "I then reverted to the Democratic National Convention of 1860, startling Mr. Bennett with the assumption that that convention was deliberately demoralized by its leaders for the purpose of throwing the Government into our hands, and thus furnishing the pretext desired for second sion. I claimed that the harmonious nomination of an available candidate would have insured the success of the Democratic tievet, but that the convention was broken up by leading Southern men, into whose hand General Butler and Caleb Cushing played. Two Democratic candidates for President were placed in the field, with the knowledge and for the pupose of giving the election to Mr. Lincoln, and then, before a word was speken or an act performed by the incoming Administration, a predetermined course of secession and rebel-In a long interview published in The Herald to-day, Governor Butler says of the above quotation: "There is not a word of truth in it. On the contrary, I made a speech at the Charleston Convention, and acted on the Committee on Resolutions, and made a report of my own, independent of what were termed the majority and minority reports. The committee was composed of thirty-three members. Sixteen favored the ideas of the Southern or Breekenriage faction, and as many more favored the ideas of the Douglas mea. The report of the former was known as the majority, and was supported by the members from California and Oregon The report of the Douglas men was known as the minority. I was the odd man, and in my report I favored the adoption of the old piatform adopted by the party at Cincinnati in 1856. This was for the sake of harmony and for the sake of peace and unity. My report was adopted finally by the convention by a vote of 230 to 40. The assertion of Mr. Weed is only an argument. Why, I was not acquainted with him at all until 1861, and yet he has offered here what some might consider facts relative to events that transpired before my acquaintance with him. It was not the slavery question that troke up the convention. The South Carolina delegation went out before any building began. South Carolina went out before any building began. South Carolina delegation went out becomes free States. In the convention the majority of the bommittee was not ade pted, which denied Congress the power to admits layery into the Ferritories a thich might in time desire to become free States. In the convention the majority athered to their demand for a shave code for the Territories and a protection to the shave trade. The minority athered to the resolution framed by Mr. Douglas, which left all questions relative to slavery in the Territories to the decision of the Supreme Court. The majority and minority reports soth agreed on the Unichnati platform, out differed more favored the ideas of the Douglas men. The reporte of the Supreme Court. The majority and minority re-ports soth agreed on the Unclinial platform, but differed on the resolutions which each proposed in addition to the same. My report was pure and simple, so much so that I was termed by the press 'pure and simple 'fer some time afterward."

so that I was termed by the press 'pure and simple' for some time afterward.

Governor Butler then refers to his speeches at Charleston and Baltimore to show that he worked for harmony in the party and against reopening the African slave trade. "I voted seven times," he says, "for boughas, and, for the sake of harmony and unity of the party, as well as the country, then voted for Jeff. Davis. He was not a candidate in the convention, but I took him up because I felt that by nominating a truly representative man from the South all trouble would be averted. On the strength of this principle I voted for him fifty-seven times, and the fact that he was a representative man of the South has been sufficiently proven since."

COALITION LEADERS DISTURBED,

A HARD FIGHT TO BE MADE FOR THE LEGISLATURE [BT TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Washington, Aug. 15 .- Information from various sources respecting the political situation and prospects in Virginia, indicates that the struggle just begun will be one of the most hotly contested in the history of the State, and that the result is doubtful. It does not appear likely that the sweet promises contained in the Lynchburg platform will catch any Republican or Coalition votes worth mentioning. Within a week the leading Bourbon newspaper of the State has restfirmed the proposition that the coming battle is to be fought on the color line." That war cry has lost its power over the white men who have been following Senator Mahous for the last four years, and it will recall few if any of them to the Bourbon ranks, which they descried in

On the other hand, the Coalitionists have a new danger to confront. Their object this year is to secure a trustworthy majority of the Legislature in order to pass a bill to reapportion the Congress districts. The result of the spring elections in the tide-water countles, which contain heavy Republican majorides, was such as to alarm the Coalition leaders. Two State Senators from Norfolk and Portsmouth—one of whom had been ap-pointed Postmaster at Norfolk and the other Rajiroad Commissioner of the State—tendered their resignations to Governor Cameron, it is asserted, with the understanding that they should not be accepted unless it became apparent that the Coalitionists could elect the successors of those Senaters. The result of the May elections was so discourag ing that, it is said, both senators will claim their seats when the Legislature convenes. That may make trou-

The acceptance by General W. C. Wickiam of a nomi nation for the State Senate by the Democrats, and his appeal for Republican support, is a just cause for alarm among the Coalitionists, for it not only makes their prospects of success in that district very doubtful, but indicates a probability of a fusion of Republicans and Democrats in other legislative districts, which may result disastrously to Mahone and his followers in case Republicans are chosen as the jusion candidates.

VIRGINIA REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

MEETING OF "STRAIGHT-OUT" REPUBLICANS-THE PLATFORM.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 15.—The Republican "Straigut-Out" Convention met to-day in this city. A platform was adopted favoring a strict adherence to Republican principles and a protective tarif, and indersing James G. Blaine for the Presidency. In the platform the action of the Administration in aiding General Mahone in the repudiation of one-taird of the State debt is condemned. It declares that the power given to Mahone was been used in this State for the persecution of life-long Republicans, and makes him virtually " President of the United States for the State of Virginia." The platform opposes mixed schools, and favors civil service reform and the enforcement of the recent acts of Congress. It also favors a free ballot and an bonest count. It declares that the Republican party never advocated the imposition of a capitation tax, and that the Republican party of Virginia placed in the state Constitution clauses that the establishment of public free schools should be made mandatory. It declares in favor of a just and equitable division of the school funds according to population, and concludes by expressing unalterable opposition to one-man power in Victinia, represented by Mahone, and calls the attention of the Administration to the results of such a system in other States.

The convention voted to raise $100,000 as a campaign fund, approved the platform of the National Convention at Chisage, declared in favor of constitutional and statutory prohibition of the manufacture of liquor as a beverage, arraigned the Republican party for bad faith in not submitting the question to the people, and declared that that party is incompetent to deal with the liquor question.

ND EBTEDNESS OF F. SHAW & BROTHERS. THE LIABILITIES ESTIMATED AT OVER $7,500,000-STATEMENT OF THE ASSIGNEE.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Boston, Aug. 15 .- Those interested in the ouse of F. Shaw & Brothers, the tanners who failed ecently, will be much disappointed with the statement nade this afternoon at the meeting of the creditors in his city. When the failure was first announced the liabilities were believed to be about $3,500,000; at the meeting to-day they were shown to be over $7,500,000. The meeting was largely attended, and Fayette Shaw, the head of the firm, made a long and carefully prepared statement of the causes which had led to the failure, the liabilities and the nominal assets. The failure, as has been stated, was largely due to the breaking of the Pacific Bank by Benyon and his associates in crime. Several of the customers of Shaw & Co. were heavily involved, but their assets were believed to be good by Shaw & Co. Mr. Shaw said:

"Our house was strong. Our single name paper was in quick demand upon the street at low rates of interest.

We decided to assume the burden of helping these unfor-tunate concerns and we did so. In doing so, for a long time we took their paper, placed our own names upon it and got the money for them, or gave it to them to get the money. In most cases, for nearly one year, we asked for nothing in return; that is we got from tuem no money and did not use their paper for our own accommodation. Meantime the volume of paper which had been used to raise money for them had become large and we found it affected our-single name paper, and finally as a mere temporary emergency, as we supposed at the time, we were obliged to ask them for their paper for our own use The result has been that our single-name paper has been practically driven from the market and we, in common with these other concerns, have had to rely upon the double-name paper to rise money. Finally suspicion was east upon this double-name paper this spring in part from an unfortunate rivalry be ween two concerns of brokers and partly from causes which are familiar to all of you. We continued on to a point where we saw clearly that unless these other houses could take care of themselves and their paper as it matured our house could no longer carry the burden. The assignee, F. A. Wyman, made a statement in which he said that he would hold the property in trust to pay from the proceeds thereof all debts, liabilities and obligations of F. At the afternoon session the resolution that the paynent of strike benefits be hereafter discontinued was not concurred in. The committee on President Jarrett's report did not favor the plank advocating a federation The following resolution was adopted: "That all

The following resolution was adopted: "That all producers and manufacturers should bear allike equal burdens of taxation, and foreign producers and manufacturers should at all times be adjusted so as to at least tax them the same amount paid by home producers and manufacturers, for the support of local, state and National Government, as well as to the amount of difference in the waves of labor and cost of manufacturing, and the ruing rate of interest in the country, so that capital and labor invested in the reproductive industries of the land shall be placed upon an equal footing in our own home market with foreign capital and labor, and not discriminated against by National legislation. Our Government has notizer moral nor political right to discriminate against home capital and labor in its tariff legislation and against any such policy we are unaiterably opposed. We therefore favor a tariff so adjusted as to give our people who pay the taxes and support the Government an adequate protection/gazinstaforeign competition, and phacethem at least on an equal footing with foreign competitors in our home markets. We also favor the aboution of internal revenue taxation, and if, after it is abolished, further reduction of taxes by the Government be desired at any time, it shall be done by placing in the free list such articles as do not enter late competitions in home productions and manufactures; but in e.o case should the tariff on such articles as do not enter into competition with home productions and manufactures; but in e.o case should the tariff on such articles as do not enter into competition with home productions and manufactures; but in e.o case should the tariff on such articles as do not enter into competition with home production with them be placed at lower duties than shall be required to maintain and keep them on an equal footing with foreign competition."

ACTION BY THE BUILDING TRADES.
